

Transliteration of the Channeling "Emergences" of Archangel Chamuel by Heike Lieselotte Schneider on April 27, 2024

"Bless you, beloved children of light. We are the energy you call Chamuel.

Beloved children in the light. Right now you feel like you are in an absolute spin cycle and at the same time you feel like you are stuck in a spiral, in a recurring movie that ends up producing the same thing or the identical thing over and over again. It doesn't really seem to be moving forward and yet so many different things are happening at the same time.

Beloved children in the light. It is part of the process. Even though you do not see everything, it does not mean that there is not a lot happening in the background. You are always being sent back into old unresolved issues on a body-mind-soul level - it may be done on the body level but not on the mind level - on the mind level but the soul hasn't really integrated it yet - so you seem to be going round in circles, which is not really the case.

The main thing is that you accept the processes without resistance. The more resistance, the more pain is created. To point this out again, or rather to protect our channel, we would like to mention once more that this is the explanation from a spiritual point of view and that you should consult a doctor or alternative practitioner if you have long-term problems.

Beloved children in the light. Pain is always a form of self-punishment, not being able to do something, not being able to change something; it is always ultimately the fear of not being good enough, feelings of guilt or also new energies, not being able or not wanting to accept change, whereby, you know that we equate the word "wanting" with "being able", because if you really want something, then you are able to do it. We say this with a smile, because sometimes the limitations in your head are just as big as chains on your feet. These limitations want to be broken down, changed, overcome. This is part of the process.

The physical problems are of course still in the joints, in what is most dense, but now new ones are also being added, not necessarily as a problem - the problem is only if you are faster with your soul than with your mind and consequently also with your body or with your thinker, which in turn tries to influence the body - it nevertheless means that ultimately these energies also work at cell level. At the cellular level means that the cell metabolism changes, the mitochondria increase, the spiritual process continues and every cell can become a channel. It will also become channels in some time, which is not too far away from our perspective. This means that your whole vibrational frequency, your vibrational frequency if you will, will change.

We would like to speak to you today on the subject of "emergence" or "emergences". The word "emergence" is often used in physics or chemistry to describe chemical processes: When A happens, B also happens. For us, it's not quite like that. Emergence is actually the emergence, the development of other things. Order coming out of chaos, because ultimately Divine Order always confronts satanic chaos and always prevails - just as a note.

Beloved children in the light. You believe that one individual can do so little that it does not make much difference whether you change something or each individual changes something for himself, changes the thought structure or whatever, we want to tell you very clearly: This is not the case! Every single one of you has a great, great influence on driving development forward. Everyone is important!

What we would like to describe as "emergence" is ultimately the process that takes place in the collective consciousness or what many of you call "the Akashic Record", which ultimately contains the consciousness of the past, the present, the future and not just in one, but in all dimensions. That which has already taken place, that which is yet to take place, that which ultimately, from a greater perspective, is always all in the Now.

Beloved children in the light. You probably know the story of the monkeys on a South Sea island where a monkey dropped a fruit or a potato, a root into the sea and found that the dirt was removed from the root and it tasted much better without it.

The other apes copied this and the phenomenon was that apes that were on other islands that had no contact with each other, i.e. had no land route to each other, suddenly also came up with this idea and the next generations that were born had already integrated this into the system and did it automatically.

A similar phenomenon was observed in experiments with rats in America. Rats were trained to walk through a certain labyrinth in order to reach their food. The interesting thing was that another laboratory many, many miles away, over 4000 miles away, also automatically reproduced this development, and here too, the rats of the next generation already knew the way without having to try anything. This is not really evolution, it is actually emergence. It is the knowledge that emerges of what has always been there, what will always be there and what is always evolving. This is part of the Divine Dichotomy: events that can occur simultaneously and show different perspectives or different sides of the same coin or cube, in this case of course.

Beloved children in the light. You believe that one person cannot do much. And truly, we say to you: Every single one is important! Each one is valuable. And each one has something to contribute. Every discovery that you make within yourself, something that you become aware of through meditation, through input, through soul communication, is stored in the collective and triggers a small avalanche there, which gets bigger and bigger and picks up more and more speed. Those who were pioneers have already internalized this into their system in such a way that it can pick up ever greater momentum or speed. And this is what is happening right now. More momentum is coming into play, it is picking up more speed.

Emergence means ascension, it means discovery, awakening. It has many names, but ultimately it is that something is crystallizing that is partly new to your scientists, but has always been there for us: recollection.

The collective communicates with each other. Even if we do not want to equate you with ants, we would like to point out that the entire system of ants plays with each other, interacts with each other and contributes to the greater whole.

It is absolutely essential that the processes that are already underway, initiated by one or the other, increase in momentum and speed so that more and more people also reach this level of consciousness. And here it is irrelevant whether one person progresses to this level of consciousness or another perhaps makes a physical discovery that has not yet been made, the knowledge that lies dormant because it is not openly communicated is incredible.

The consciousness that can access different levels of the collective or the Akasha, so to speak, is of course different for each person. If you constantly feed only negative energies into the collective consciousness, then you will only receive negative streams of consciousness from the collective. We have often used the example of a cake where the bottom was a little burnt - that is, so to speak, the level that consists only of fear or anger, of emotions that are ultimately not very full of light or free of light.

The lighter you are or the more fun you have in the game you call life, you are ultimately on a level where perhaps the cherries are already to be found. And those who mainly strive again and again to be as happy as possible, or rather to create as much happiness as possible within themselves, are already on the cherry on top. And what you send out, you also attract back. This means that if you are only in the collective level, which is full of fear, then you can only attract fearful ideas into your life or pass them on to others. But the more people lift themselves out of fear, the more the sweet cherries are docked and the more new realizations come. And more and more people have experienced so much fear in their lives that some of them, while stoic, move into acceptance and thereby into resolution.

Seeing nature awaken, seeing the joy of children, the smile of an infant, all this can naturally help you to reach the higher levels.

The more you engage in creating happiness, creating feelings of happiness - and again, this is only controlled by your brain frequency and you are the power over your brain - it means that you will progress or have progressed much faster than you can really imagine.

The processes are getting faster and faster. Dynamics, speed as we said, are increasing. And this has to do with the fact that the more people awaken, the more people will awaken, because the collective is simply changing completely and the Akashic Records are being rewritten in different dimensions. Again, this is part of the Divine Dichotomy and we say this again with a smile for the simple reason that the Akashic Record contains everything, as we said, from the past, present, future, all dimensions, what has already happened, what is yet to happen and every single facet of the different decisions that have also already been determined, so to speak. It is only interesting for each one of you which of the individual timelines or dimensions you choose, but in the end you who are listening will want to make the right choice and will make the right choice.

For you, the next time is particularly about bringing up what is below, digging down what is above. This means that all issues will be looked at again. That which could not or did not want to be released will be brought to the surface once again.

It's about accepting the here and now, not losing yourself in mental time travel and giving up on things that happened in the past or could possibly happen in the future, but living the here and now.

The here and now is being lived more and more by people who are actually on the breadline, who really don't know what will happen next. All that remains is acceptance and that brings about change.

Beloved children in the light. The emergences are becoming ever more frequent, ever more vibrant, ever more conscious. The pace is accelerating. And you will realize that ultimately each and every one of you brings so much more power and strength to this process than you can possibly imagine.

It is essential to give your body, mind and soul space, peace and quiet, and we know that many people are groaning under the daily grind. The household, perhaps the children, the work, but nevertheless the point is that you very often lose yourself in many things, be it television, any other media, of course also the computer and these are time wasters. You are not really conscious while you are doing this, on the contrary, you create a lot of negativity because the carousel of thoughts continues to work in the background - underground, so to speak.

What it is ultimately about now is the process of development, the process of ascension. It is a foretaste of what is to come. But it is also a great, great challenge on a body-mind-soul level. Everything that vibrates slowly has more problems, like bone structures, joints and such - everything that vibrates higher can be integrated more easily.

None of you are the same person you were four years ago. You have evolved so quickly and so much - the stoic equanimity has perhaps become a thirst for discovery. But as long as you are still interpreting the stories of your neighbors in your head, the behavior of other people, without really asking questions, you will be kept at a level or keep yourself at a level that is not really 5D yet. The good thing is that you still have a moment. But nonetheless, it will now become faster and faster, it will go faster and faster, simply because more and more people are feeding the collective with awakened energies and this in turn is spilling over to other people.

The power and strength that lies within you is so much more and so much greater than you can imagine. You have only been trained, educated in the truest sense of the word, trained to be able to exist in this small world. The great energetic spectrum on all levels has of course been kept outside by the darkness.

Beloved children in the light. You are such powerful creatures and you can change so much and you will change so much, you have already begun. The light transforms all darkness, but first it makes the dirt visible. And this is happening more and more and more every day.

But you are the power in your world. You are the power, you are the strength, you are the beauty, you are the grace, you are the special. You give your power and energy into a collective, into an Akashic Record, into an energy field that will ultimately unite all people.

That power and that strength, that courage, that you have never given up, that you are willing to keep going no matter how difficult it is, that you are trying to get out of your head more, that you can feel your soul energy more, that you are using that power and that strength to properly inhabit the body and keep the body free of pain or disease, this is the process that you are in right now. And we know it's exhausting. You're struggling, what you see on the outside isn't pretty and your body has a few aches and pains. Once again, a note to protect our channel: Please consult a doctor or alternative practitioner if problems persist for a long time.

Beloved children. Darkness is like an animal that is driven into a corner, it still thrashes around a bit, it fights, but finally knowing, darkness knows the outcome, and this can only end in light, because as we said, light can exist without darkness, darkness cannot exist without light.

What will happen next will be partly shocking for many, partly clearly understandable, already expected. Depending on your current level of consciousness, the more you can accept it, the easier the process will be for you. The miracle cure for getting through this time more easily is trust in God.

Beloved children in the light. Things will rise, change and emerge so quickly that the level of consciousness will make leaps and bounds, and many of you can see this. The reason that the Earth has suddenly made this leap after such long processes is because many have said, "I'm not feeding the darkness anymore! I'll stop doing it." It was all the easier for the earth to free itself the last bit with the help of many light workers.

All these processes are irreversible and therefore full of lightness and strength, rooted in love, in consciousness, in the Akashic Chronicle, indeed rooted in the source of origin, in God himself, the Omnipotence, this change will be carried out at such a speed that as many people as possible will come along, as few as possible will be left behind and as many as possible can be helped. And you are part of it!

You are the part that has never given up. You are the part that loves for the sake of love. You are the part that has the strength and fortitude to say "No!", to change, to stand up for yourself and others, to no longer keep your mouth shut in the face of injustice, but to consistently provide help. Not necessarily at the forefront and with great volume and "ballyhoo", but through a change of consciousness, through the inner desire to simply no longer want this darkness. And the more people join in, the faster it happens.

Beloved child. You are so much bigger, so much wiser, so much older and so much brighter than anything you can imagine. And you are important! So we ask you, don't give up. Move forward! You will find that your life will be different this time next year. Know that you are infinitely loved.

Know that you are so full of power and so full of strength that the Divine Spark lives within you and that strength grows with each passing day.

Beloved child. Celebrate life! Celebrate love! Celebrate compassion!

Celebrate your own abilities and get involved in the game of bringing new ideas into the world that are already ancient, but perhaps want to break through you right now. And you will infect other people with them. You fuel the collective and the collective fuels you.

You are infinitely loved!

Be blessed in the light of Divine Omnipotence, now and always and so be it!"

(Archangel Chamuel)
